JULY FIRST SPORTS CLOSE AT HAND

The committee for the July 1st sports have for years striven to give the people of this city and district one real day's pleasure every year, and the people have always shown their appreciation of the committee's work by flocking to the exhibition grounds in thousands. This is as it should be. July 1st is the Dominion Day, the day when we throw aside all cares and get out and join with the younger generation in celebrating what, to us, should be the day of all days. Red Deer's July 1st is becoming known as a great day; it brings people from all parts. The programme is always good and varied, and generally gives entire satisfaction. This year, owing to the financial stringency, has been a hard one for the committee, but the citizens, as is usual for Red Deer, have come through with the necessary funds in a very generous manner. The committee have not made the programme less, but increased it, and all that remains to be done is for the people themselves to give their support and a bright sunny day. The programme can be read on another page.

Court of Revision

The Court of Revision for the Municipality of Red Deer, which met on Tuesday, June 16th, sat for two sessions that day, afternoon and evening, adjourning at 11 p.m. until Wednesday afternoon, but even then they had not been able to complete the work and adjourned until Thursday night, but owing to various causes the meeting was not held, but again adjourned until this Wednesday evening. Quite a number of the appeals have been dealt with, and it is generally expected that where the assessments have been raised higher than last year, they will be reduced, but the Mayor announced previous to the first case being taken that no decisions would be given until the whole number of appeals had been dealt with, and this has been followed up to the present time.

Women's Institute Garden Party at Mrs. W. A. Moore's

On Friday evening, from six to ten o'clock, the Women's Institute entertained the students and staff of the Alberta Ladies' College at a garden party and tennis tea, which proved a highly pleasant affair. Mrs. W. A. Moore, who very hospitably placed their beautiful grounds and house at the disposal of the Institute, and were also untiring in their efforts to make the party a success, happy, for which the Institute feels very grateful. They also desire to thank Mr. Lord for the use of dishes, and Mr. W. J. Stephens for the use of his gramophone. Mrs. Moore received with her two guests, Miss Mason and Miss Gillespie, and Mrs. G. W. Greene, who was convener of the garden party. Mrs. R. L. Gaetz and Mrs. Greene presided at the tea table, and the assistants were Mesdames Munro, Lord, H. L. Stone, and the Misses George, Greene, O. Smith, S. Smith, Chambers, Ebert and Lees. A large number of the younger people of the city were also invited, and tennis and other games made the evening pass very quickly. On all sides the hope was expressed that this would be an annual party given for the College girls.

Red Deer Market Booming

Red Deer market has been steadily growing from its inception in a very satisfactory manner, but last Thursday it made a tremendous jump. Producers were in from every direction, and men coming all the way from Minot, and the consumers, who were coming and going the whole of the morning, were more than pleased with the amount of stalls were occupied, all of them being well stocked with produce of great variety, looking fresh, clean and very tempting. The butcher stall of G. W. Ball was a great attraction, and it was not long before he had to get a fresh supply of meat from the store. His first stock being sold quickly, the price being lower than up town. The dressed poultry looked very tempting, the hand-picked and drawn goods selling readily at 25c per pound. The butter and eggs also found ready buyers at good prices, and the garden produce also was snapped up quickly, despite the fact that most people are supposed to be growing their own radishes, lettuce, etc. Mr. Besant had some real fine celery plants on sale at a price that made more than one wonder why they went to the trouble of growing them themselves; they were, however, sold in a few minutes. There is no doubt that a few more weeks looking anything so nice as last Thursday's will make it so much of a success that it will be hard to do without. It is very pleasing to know that the farmers are getting more awake to this market question every week, and the fact is shown by the distance they are travelling and the increasing numbers each week. Mr. Cox had his stall as usual and received good patronage, which shows that a reputation in the early days of the market will likely be of great value in the future.

The following prices ruled, with slight variation:
Smoked meat 15c-20c
Fresh pork 12c-15c
Lard 13c
Salmon 15c
Haddock 15c-25c
Chicken 15c-25c
Live poultry 14c
Eggs 20c-25c
Butter 25c
Milk 10c
Onions, lettuce, radishes, bunch 5c
Cut flowers, per bunch 10c
Young plants each 1c

College Notes

The College and Clearview girls' basketball teams contested a game at the Horn Hill picnic. The storm interrupted the game, but play was resumed when the sun shone forth again, and the result was a success for the College team. The return trip for the Red Deer people who attended the picnic was not lessened by the storm and the consequent bad roads.

Mr. Mathers, of Vancouver, spent the week end with his daughter, Miss Mathers, at the College.

The staff and students of the College attended the Methodist Church in a body on Sunday morning, as is the custom on "College Sunday," which is the last Sunday before the closing.

On Friday evening last the Women's Institute entertained the staff and students of the College at a garden party at the home of Mrs. W. A. Moore. The evening was a most delightful one, and the party was thoroughly enjoyed by all. Many were the expressions of appreciation from the members of the staff and students for the kindness thus shown to them by the Institute.

Poplar Ridge

Mr. and Mrs. F. Fisher, of Great Falls, Montana, have returned to Red Deer and are making their home with their daughter, Mrs. A. F. Neilson, for the present.

Mr. and Mrs. Boddy, of Water Glen, also have returned to Red Deer, and are making their home with Mr. and Mrs. A. F. Neilson's last week.

A good number turned out last Sunday to hear Rev. Walter Daniels of Toronto, Ont. (formerly of Red Deer), but owing to the very heavy rain Mr. Daniels was obliged to turn back half way and return to Red Deer. Mr. Daniels, as well as the people, was very disappointed not to be able to come and shake hands with the old friends.

The many friends of Miss May Atkins will be glad to know that she is out of the hospital and feeling quite strong, considering the serious operation she underwent a few weeks ago.

CLEARVIEW.

Don't forget the picnic on the 25th. A few workers around the grounds have been arranged. Come and get your share of the prizes. Ladies bring baskets. If you can't bring baskets, come anyway. Free for all. Everybody welcome.

Wedding Bells

A very pretty wedding took place last Wednesday, when Miss Goldie Bell was married to E. E. Roper, of Calgary, at the home of the bride's parents, Rev. Mr. and Mrs. Thompson. Ball, on Michener hill, Mr. Bell performing the ceremony.

Mrs. Roper and Miss Alice Roper of Calgary, mother and sister of the groom, were present, together with a number of friends and the family, the company being entertained at a well spread table following the ceremony, which occurred at 1 p.m. Miss Bell held a position as stenographer in the Canadian Bank of Commerce of Red Deer for about a year past. Mr. Roper is on the staff of the Calgary Herald.

The happy couple left on the evening train for Banff, taking with them the hearty good wishes of a large circle of Red Deer friends. After a short time they will return to Calgary, where they will make their future home.

Horn Hill Picnic

In spite of the threatening weather there was a large turnout at Horn Hill annual picnic, a great number coming from Red Deer and surrounding district. Unfortunately, a heavy shower of rain towards evening spoiled the fun to some extent.

The Ladies' College basketball team, captained by Mrs. Maltrew, showed good sporting spirit in coming out and played a lively game with the Clearview team, winning out by one point. Charles Gilles, of the Clearview team, was awarded a prize, a picture named the "Chariot Race," will adorn the halls of the College.

Grassy Lake baseball team played against Horn Hill team, the latter winning by one point, after which Horn Hill played against Penhold, again winning by one point, thus winning a pair of baseballs. The last game especially was a very close one and very interesting.

Thanks to the generous donations from Red Deer and Penhold business men, and others, there was a good assortment of prizes for sports, etc. Following are the winners of articles donated:

Letting the Light in Shops and businesses that are illuminated by advertising have a vitality and efficiency not possessed by shops and businesses that drape their service and activities with a pall of silence.

Everybody knows that it is in all ways good to let much light into dwellings, factories, shops and stables—into all places where life is and where health and efficiency are desired.

We commend to the merchants of this community the advantages and good results of persistent advertising in our columns, for the public always go where light is—the public shun dark places. Light means welcome and confidence.

A WORD TO MERCHANTS

Advertising will go far towards retaining the loyalty of old customers and winning you new ones. Fifty-two advertisements in our columns will prove an excellent salesman—one whose yearly cost to you will be less than what you are now paying to some salesman behind your counter.

THE ANGLICAN SYNOD
AND TEMPERANCE.

The Anglican Synod, held last week, was almost as largely attended as ever, although the new diocesan synod was postponed to last year, reducing the territory of Calgary diocese by half. A large amount of the time of the Synod was taken up with discussing Canons and some other matters which could very well have been handled by a committee. Perhaps the most important committee report was that that of temperance, introduced and carried through by Rev. C. W. G. Moore, rector of Red Deer. So well was this report received that the clause against treating was carried by a standing vote. The address by Mr. Moore, in presenting his report, was one of the most sincere and forceful during the whole session, and the splendid manner in which it was received was a great compliment to him. The sentiment expressed by the Synod shows a strong undercurrent for temperance legislation that will be effective. Such a report as that introduced by Rev. Mr. Moore would have been laughed at a few years ago. A report of the temperance committee will be found in another column.

THE OIL SITUATION.

Discovery of oil west of Olds, in the Red Deer district, demonstrates beyond a doubt the claim of experts that the main body of oil would be found north of the Dingman well. Some go so far as to claim the oil region covers an area of six hundred miles. If such is the case, then this whole province is underlaid with oil. Every indication goes to show the Red Deer district, extending to the Rocky Mountains, is in the centre of the oil region, and that there is a great future in store for us. The two companies organized here are meeting with fairly strong support, and citizens are buying stock. Mr. MacGregor, who is in the east, is selling considerable, and in large blocks, to prominent business men in Ottawa, Montreal and other cities. Every citizen should take a few shares at least in the local companies, and thus help along the good work.

PLENTY OF RAIN.

Although Southern Alberta has been suffering for want of rain, and the crops are in a precarious condition, Red Deer district has had abundant, and to spare. The past three or four days have been almost continuous showers; and a great crop is an assured fact. The growth of grain and grasses has been phenomenal. With warm weather and plenty of sunshine the farmer will reap a great harvest.

CALGARY ELEVATOR.

Carrying out its policy of erecting large interior storage elevators throughout the West, the Government has awarded the contract for the Calgary elevator to Janss Brothers and Company. The contract price is in the neighborhood of three-quarters of a million dollars, and it will have a capacity of 2,500,000 bushels. Two of these large interior elevators have already been built, one at Moose Jaw and one at Saskatoon. In pursuing this policy the Government is also looking towards the development of the Panama Canal route.

The terrible mining disaster at Hillcrest, near Frank, on the Crow's Nest railway, Alberta, is the worst ever recorded in Canada. Great sympathy is shown for the suffering widows and children, and subscriptions are being taken up all over the Dominion.

A laborer near Castor was arrested for an assault against a little girl a few days ago, and committed for trial. We hope in God's good time men will be punished with such severity for this awful crime that they will at least never again be able to repeat the offence.

The nearer the oil wells come to Red Deer, the shorter distance it seems to be down to the oil.

The Monetary Times says the estimated coal reserves of Alberta amount to 1,073,637,400,000 tons, or $39,488,000,000 more than all the estimated reserves in the rest of the Dominion of Canada combined. Alberta is the richest province in minerals in Canada, if not in the world.

ANOTHER LEGACY.

Still another legacy has been left by the late Liberal Government for the present Government and the people of Canada to finance. This time it is the Robins Irrigation Company.

The Robins Irrigation Company secured 380,573 acres of land in Alberta in 1906 from the Laurier Government for the small sum of one dollar per acre, and undertook to irrigate these lands. The deal became one of the great scandals of the Laurier regime, and the Conservatives fought it with all the ability at their command.

Their attitude is now justified. The company has not funds enough to carry out its undertaking. Five million dollars has been spent, but this is not enough, and the irony of it is that the company now comes to the present government for assistance.

A great area of valuable land is tied up, and it is in the public interest that the company should be enabled to carry the enterprise to a conclusion. So the Government is compelled again to finance another of the late Government's undertakings.

The $500,000, or one dollar per acre which the company paid to the Government for the land is to be returned, as a loan, but will be a first charge upon the lands, with five per cent. interest.

When the lands are irrigated they will be very valuable.

WASKASSO PARK, THE POPULAR PICNIC GROUNDS.

Waskasso Park, Red Deer's beautiful park in the south end of the town, is gradually coming into its own as being a place of beauty second to none in this district. Hitherto the beauty of this park has been overlooked by the majority of our citizens, most of whom never went any further than the beaver dam, but it seems that they are now waking up to the fact that this park is worthy of all that is said of it, for each day and night numerous citizens are seen wending their way there to spend a pleasant hour. It might be permissible here to call the Council's attention to the roads leading to the park, especially 2nd and 3rd Aves. East. If the road drag was put on for half a day wonders would be done, for at present it is bad for autos or rigs. The expense would not be great, but the benefits would.

This park has another advantage in that it adjoins the fair grounds, which makes it so convenient for picnics, and when better water facilities are available, picnics of a very large size can be arranged. During the last week two Sunday School picnics were held there, the Methodist on Wednesday, and Presbyterian on Friday. Both occasions were heartily supported by the presence of a large number of grown-ups, who assisted to help make the days not to be forgotten by the kiddies. The usual sports were indulged in, prizes being given to the winners, and the supper was enjoyed to the fullest extent. We all know what the children can do on these occasions.

PARTIZANSHIP ABOVE HONOR.

The Liberal press finds it exceedingly difficult to excuse the deliberate breach of faith which Sir Wilfrid Laurier was guilty of in the last few minutes of the session, when he permitted, if not, in fact, instructed the Liberal Senate to so amend as to kill the resolutions providing for increased senatorial representation for Western Canada.

The incident illustrates the danger of forgetting the scriptural admonition as to one's pearls. The Conservatives were more than fair to the Liberals in the redistribution of the constituencies. Their reward is the deliberate and inexcusable violation of a definite agreement. This is what might be expected of men who place partizanship above honor.

However, the incident leaves the government absolutely free to reconsider the question of redistribution at the proper time and under more favorable conditions. Some of the Liberals are very much amused that anyone should have believed them capable of keeping their word. They may yet have little cause to laugh unaided, or to thank their instruments in the Senate.

If Laurier did not announce the agreement to his friends in the Senate and insist that they should abide by it, he acted a dishonorable part. If they deliberately repudiated his engagement, then their part was not less dishonorable. Laurier entered into a definite and solemn agreement that the Redistribution Bill should pass, and that the Senate resolutions should also pass. It was rolled during the course of a short debate on the resolutions that Laurier expressed great anxiety to have them sent to the Senate. This anxiety awakened a well founded suspicion that at the very time when he entered into the agreement he accompanied it with a mental reservation which he proposed to carry out by his control over the Senate majority.

The last day of the session the House refused to accept the Senate's amendment postponing the date of the coming into effect of the Act until after the next election. The Senate, through a mistake, sent a message that they would not insist upon their amendment. Eventually a further message came declaring that the Senate would insist upon their amendment. In the meantime Laurier showed great concern and apprehension lest his friends in the Senate might have adhered to the agreement which he had made.

CHARGED WITH

INDECENT OFFENCE.

The Castor Advance says: "The citizens of town and district were shocked on Friday last when information was laid against a farm laborer employed by Wm. O'Connor, on a charge of carnal knowledge of a little girl twelve years of age, who was given a home by Mr. and Mrs. O'Connor a year ago."

The child, whose mother died some two years ago, was taken by Mr. and Mrs. O'Connor from the department of dependent and neglected children, Edmonton, and given a place in their home. The prospects for the child were very bright, as had circumstances warranted, it was the intention of her foster parents to adopt the child when she had become accustomed to her changed condition. From evidence presented it would appear that this was not the first occasion upon which the accused had attempted to perpetrate his diabolical scheme. That he did not succeed is said to have been due to the providential protection given to the immature against the brutality of uncontrolled lust.

The accused was defended by Mr. Roy Clarke Murphy, who applied for bail. Magistrate Mathias refused to consider the application, and the prisoner was sent up for trial at the next sitting of the supreme court. Mr. Tucker, assistant superintendent of the department of neglected and dependent children, came down on Friday and took the child back to Edmonton on Monday afternoon."

A DOCTOR'S OPINIONS.

Some of the arguments used in defence of the liquor traffic are very ludicrous. One argues that alcohol does not cause drunkenness and other evils, that it is only the abuse of it, and consequently argues for moderation in its use. Let us see how much truth there is in the statement that the moderate use of alcohol is harmless.

What are the highest authorities to which we can appeal. Surely government reports and the findings of the highest scientists. Now we find the government reports in England and several other countries all agree that the continued use of quantities so small as were to cause drunkenness will, if persisted in, cause chronic poisoning, and many of the children of such parents are liable to be weaklings or worse. The reports of great scientists, the action of great employers of labor, and the example of athletes all go to show that even the moderate use of alcohol is now known to be harmful. So much for moderation.

Another argues that all the evils users, and suggests that those who are prohibited, and the free use of beer and wine be permitted. Here again we appeal to government reports, which class "beer, wine and spirits" as all positively harmful if frequently used, even in so-called moderation. Many great railroad corporations also suspend or dismiss a driver for indulging in a simple glass of beer. Indeed it is becoming pretty generally known that beer drinkers do not live as long as whisky drinkers on account of its ruinous effects on the kidneys. Moreover, France, Italy, Germany, Belgium and other countries have found when it is almost too late that beer and wine have a most disastrous effect on the national health and vigor.

Another declares that if all restrictions were removed and liquor allowed to be sold as freely as any other commodity, there would be little trouble from it. If so, why not apply that plan to morphine, cocaine and other poisonous drugs? In certain parts of France and Belgium there is a saloon for every twenty of the inhabitants, and the people are besotted and degenerated to a degree almost beyond belief. Indeed there is not a word that can be honestly said in favor of the use of alcohol, unless it be its occasional use as a medicine.

TRAINING DOMESTIC

SCIENCE TEACHERS

At the Olds School of Agriculture.

An item of news that will be of interest to all Public School teachers is the fact that the School of Agriculture at Olds will give such a course as will enable those holding teacher's certificate to teach household science in the common schools. Teachers holding seventh grade certificates, and having completed the Normal course, by taking two winters at the School of Agriculture, Olds, will be graduated as qualified teachers. This will be very welcome news to the large number of teachers who have written to the undersigned with regard to the work which we are giving.

In addition to the teachers' course, the School will offer what will be called a home-maker's course. This will be for young ladies who have not in view the teaching of household science work, but, who desire the training so that it may be of use to them in their own homes.

This work is made as practical as possible, and all our courses are entirely free. The Institution is under the auspices of the Department of Agriculture at Edmonton, and all that any student will need to do will be to provide their own board and room, which may be secured at from $5.00 to $5.50 per week.

POWER FROM THE SUN

Remarkable Efficiency in Generating Heat From Old Sol

The sun power plant, by which low-pressure steam is generated by the heat of the sun's rays, recently erected at Mead, near Cairo, has given satisfactory results, and Lord Kitchener and Sir Reginald Wingate have invited the makers to put up a similar plant for irrigation work in the Sudan. The present plant working at Mead is stated by the inventor, Mr. Frank Shuman, to have shown an efficiency of 57 per cent., which is 14 per cent. greater than that attained at two years ago; this is as against an efficiency of 75 per cent. in the case of the steam boiler, and Mr. Shuman claims that the sun-heated boiler will eventually prove as efficient as, if it does not even surpass, the steam boiler. In the new plant for the Sudan the substitution of one large heat absorber for the five smaller units at present employed is being considered; these heaters at Cairo embrace an area of about 13,000 square feet, interspersed so that the total area is about one acre. The plant gives an average output of 50 brake horse-power during a ten-hour day. The new plant will exceed this in power, and as the latitude of Cairo is only 30 degrees North, the new plant, when working nearer the tropics, is expected to show a greater efficiency.

BRAINS MAKE VALUE

Turn Your Raw Material Into Salable Product

Germany's motto is: Unite and Conquer.

Our motto is: Dissolve and Retreat. The country that sells raw materials will always be poor, just as the farmer who sells corn and not hogs will never lift the mortgage.

If you have a forest and can work it up into tables, chairs, bookcases and violins you will make a deal more money than if you sold firewood. We take paper, glass, leather, copper, steel and make a "Kodak." The value of the raw materials that go to make a "Kodak" is, say, 20 cents. The consumer in South Africa, England, Japan or Germany pays five dollars for the machine, and counts it a bargain. It is brain that makes value—the Philistine.

The Oldest Oddfellow. It is claimed for Thomas Blades, of Yarrow, a Northamptonshire village, that he is the oldest Oddfellow in the world. Blades, who is within two years of being a centenarian, has completed seventy-four years' membership of the Manchester Unity. As a boy of seven he was working for 36 cents a week in minding cows and scaring birds from crops. He is hale and hearty, enjoys his pipe, and believes that the secret of keeping young is "a contented mind and something to do."

American Roads. United States Secretary of Agriculture Wilson says 200,000 miles of road throughout the country need improvements, and estimates it would cost nearly $2,000,000 to do the work.

Coal Briquets. Coal briquets to the amount of 151,850 short tons, valued at the plants at $1,007,327, were manufactured last year in the United States.

Only Gums Now. The "Dublin Daily Express" refers to a "Mr. Tooth, whose name was in everybody's mouth a generation or so ago."

Balkan War Echoes. Many of the Greek soldiers who went to fight the Unbearable Turk in the Balkans brought back Turkish wives, and war continues at home.

A "POLISHED" WOMAN

Blackheaded Her Face to Look Like a Futurist

A young woman appeared in a public park at Grosny, in South Russia, with half her face blackened. The color was not due to the little accidents of grate cleaning. The woman was not "the first woman chimney sweep," neither had she embarked on the arduous career of a coal heaver. The "black"—blackening perhaps or blacked—had been deliberately applied. Moreover, it had been polished apparently with tender care until it shone like a grate in a well regulated household or the boots of an officer in the Guards.

But the result was not "a joy for ever." The phibetans in the park were not impressed. They jeered. And before their jeers the pioneer of the new fashion in faces had to retreat. The explanation of the matter is simple. The woman, it seems, was a futurist who wished to go one better than a colored wig and violet face powder.

War's Awful Cost

Mr. Norman Angell should be interested in the calculations made by Professor Tzanoff, of the Sofia University, regarding the cost to Bulgaria of the Balkan Wars. He estimates the total expenditure, including the capitalization of the sums to be expended in pensions, at roughly, $250,000,000, while the value of the territory ceded to Roumania is assessed at a further $300,000,000. Add to that the death of over six per cent. of the adult male population, the picked adults, be it noted, and it may well be asked if the game was worth the candle.

Aerial Dare-devils

Of the forty-three airmen in the world who have looped the loop, France has twenty-six, England five, America one, and Russia and Italy two each. The other airmen all belong to small states, including one each to Peru and Paraguay. Every one of the loopers performed his exploit on a French machine.

Black oil was struck in the Monarch well Wednesday morning last at a depth of only 808 feet.

The oil is believed to be in quantity, and B. W. Dunn, the company geologist, ordered drilling stopped until a special cap could be put over the mouth of the well.

The head driller made the statement to President William George that a charge of nitro-glycerine would unleash the oil and start a gusher that would blow down the derrick.

The bit cut into the oil at 3.45. President George and all the directors were present.

The strike had been anticipated by Geologist Dunn, and the directors waited up to see the well brought in.

A quantity of the oil was brought up in the bails. It proved to be the black oil, long dreamed of by the Alberta oil operator, the mother fluid from which comes the lighter and more volatile oil, such as is produced by the discovery well of the Calgary Petroleum Product company.

The men who are in charge of the affairs of the company crowded about the bails as its contents were being discharged into the sluice box.

"It is the real thing," said Mr. Dunn to President William George. "It is black petroleum, and just what we were hoping for." Then followed mutual congratulations.

The conditions at the well were such that Mr. Dunn decided to order a cessation of operations, fearing that if the bit was sent further into the formation, a flow of oil would result.

The following is the official statement handed out to the press by W. A. George, president of the Monarch company:

"Mr. Dunn, the geologist of the Monarch company, announces that heavy black oil was struck at the well on Wednesday, June 17, at a depth of 808 feet.

(Signed) W. A. George.

The news caused quite a sensation in Red Deer. While this has been looked forward to with some certainty, it was not quite expected that oil, and of the crude nature in particular, would be struck at a depth of 808 feet, thus most people were taken by surprise. As far as Red Deer is concerned, the news began to spread about 8.30 on Thursday morning, and a number of citizens made their way to the land office to get a number for filing, and before ten o'clock the whole city was in the throes of an excitement that had never been witnessed here before, and over 500 people had taken out numbers by 12 o'clock (noon), including many ladies, some of high social standing. Reports were rife that intending filers were on their way from Calgary in autos, and that the morning train was crowded with them as well, and many holders of the early numbers looked forward to selling at a good price. On the arrival of the noon train from Calgary a large number of people alighted and made their way to the land office along Ross Street on the run, some of them being winded, and scarcely able to sneak when they reached the office. The look on the faces of some of them when they saw the number of the ticket was a study. Disgrace was expressed on every face. The evening train brought another large number of visitors, who in their turn expressed disgust at the news of how the Red Deer people had got in and swallowed up the numbers in hundreds, but they did not intend to be stalled by a little matter of that kind, as many of their represented syndicates, and they began to look around for those who were willing to sell their numbers and their rights of filing, and they were not hard to find. From seven o'clock in the evening until eleven o'clock the offices of Latimer & Butterfield and Lionel Page were besieged with buyers and sellers, and many numbers changed hands from $5 up to $100. Many of the visitors, after having got over their first shock at finding themselves so stilled, complimented the local people on their foresight in getting in early; it was a situation they had not looked forward to having to face, consequently many of them had to wire or telephone Calgary for money with which to meet the demands made upon them. One case in particular aroused a whole lot of excitement. The parties had wired Calgary to send money by wire to reach Red Deer at ten o'clock Friday morning, as they had used the funds brought with them for purchasing numbers for filing, and they would be in early. The money was wired alright, but for some reason the applicants could not get it from the bank, and they were running round the streets imploring assistance for the loan of the money for half an hour, and were successful in getting a part, but not all they wanted. In the meantime messages were passing by phone, wire to Calgary, and between the C.P.R. and the Bank, and the man who was filing had chosen his lands and had been notified by the Land Office agent that he could take up no more time, but would have to give way to someone else, when the money was rushed into the office right in the nick of time, the bank having come through with the necessary funds. The crowd for numbers on Friday morning was as great as ever, among them being scores of strangers who had got here by the early morning trains from north and south, and their numbers were being swelled all the time by locals who had withstood the excitement of Thursday, but on hearing of the money that had been made over the sale of tickets, had not been able to resist longer, but hastened to get in as soon as possible. Good-natured jokes were being handled about freely, particularly on those whose faces showed much astonishment.

THIRTY MILES WEST.

The Monarch well is located thirty miles west and six miles south of the town of Olds on the Calgary-Edmonton line. It is about 48 miles due northwest of Calgary as the crow flies. For this reason the news of the strike at the well was delayed in getting to Calgary, but the moment it was circulated on the streets last night, great excitement caused among the men interested in oil.

The $1 par shares of the company which had been selling on local stock exchanges yesterday for $17.50 for dividend shares and $8 for ex-dividend. The shares of all kinds at once rose to $40, and a big business was done in them last night by the curb traders. They are expected to advance further at this morning's session of the exchange, and as a result of the excitement are carrying up with them all other stocks of various oil companies.

FURTHER DETAILS.

Further details of the strike are as follows:
Drilling at the Monarch well had been interrupted at a depth of 750 feet for several days owing to a broken steelyard of the drilling tools. At this depth a heavy flow of wet gas was coming from the well, and the drillers believed they were getting close to the oil bearing sands. New tools were shipped up from Calgary by Martin & Phillips, the International Supply company drilling the well, last Saturday, and on Monday drilling was resumed at the well.

As the drill pierced downward, the thickness of oil continued to increase and officers of the company were notified that a strike of crude oil was imminent. President George, Vice-president R. L. Shimmom, Treasurer George W. Moritz, Director R. W. Wood, of Fernie, and William Beach, of Winnipeg, a capitalist heavily interested in the Monarch properties, were anxiously at eight Tuesday night for the anticipated news.

STRIKE IS REPORTED.

At 3.45 a.m. Wednesday morning, a depth of 808 feet, the night shift of drillers at the well reported that they had pierced into oil. Geologist B. W. Dunn was at the well, and was called to the derrick. The bails were sent down, and when it came up it was dripping full of heavy, crude black oil. Mr. Dunn pronounced it the real crude oil, the discovery of which everyone in the Calgary oil fields has been awaiting anxiously.

Geologist Dunn ordered the drilling operations halted at once, fearing that if the bit was sunk deeper, a gusher might result, with no appliances on hand to handle it. Accordingly a temporary cover was placed on the mouth of the well, and the orders were telegraphed for a special capping appliance which will permit drilling and at the same time keep the well capped against a gusher.

WOULD BRING A GUSHER.

The drillers at the well, who have had many years' experience in the Oklahoma, Texas, and California fields, declared their belief to Mr. George that if a charge of nitro-glycerine was exploded at the bottom of the well, a gusher would result that might blow out not only the cover of the well but the derrick itself.

President George and the other officials of the company then returned to Olds by motor from the well, and thence took the train to Calgary, arriving here at ten o'clock last night. The news of the strike spread over the city like wildfire, and occasional intense excitement.

EIGHT KILLED AND SEVENTY INJURED IN PARIS STORM.

Paris, June 16.—The death toll from yesterday's tempest stands at eight tonight. Eight other persons have disappeared, as far as is known, and seventy were injured through the collapse of a section of the Paris streets.

One of the first quarters of Paris can hardly be recognized, so extensive was the wreckage caused by the storm.

Public opinion has been aroused against the authorities for having permitted the capital to be honey-combed by subways, electric, water and gas mains without a semblance of supervision.

AWFUL MINING DISASTER

195 Men Perish in Alberta Mine

Hillcrest, Alta., June 19.—One hundred and ninety-five miners out of 236 who went to work at the No. 1 mine of the Hillcrest collieries are dead as the result of an explosion of black damp which occurred in the mine shaft 1,600 feet underground at 9.30 this morning.

Forty-one men were rescued. Foreman J. S. Quigley is among the missing. The bodies are being brought from the mine as rapidly as trucks can carry them to the surface. The rescuers are working desperately to get the entombed miners to the fresh air as soon as possible in the hope that some of them may be revived, but each truck contains the charred remains of a victim of the worst mining catastrophe in the history of Canada, and even the friends and relatives of the men who are still missing have given up hope of ever seeing them alive. The 41 men who were delivered from awful death in the depths of the wrecked mine were rescued early in the day. Every carrier that comes now contains a lifeless form.

DID NOT KNOW CAUSE OF EXPLOSION.

General Manager Brown, of the Hillcrest collieries, said that he did not know what the cause of the explosion was, and would not conjecture an opinion. "There is so much confusion now that I am not in a position to give a detailed statement," said Mr. Brown. "I have not been able to make any investigation of the circumstances surrounding the disaster, all my time having been occupied since the explosion occurred in superintending the work of recovering the bodies. The explosion took place at 9.30 this morning, and 10 minutes later the rescue work was commenced, willing assistance coming from all quarters."

Hillcrest, Alta., June 20.—All night three fires were raging in No. 1 mine, and the miners feared another explosion. Friends of the dead, who numbered 194, according to the official report from the mine, were anxious to have the bodies brought out, and the rescue parties worked through the long hours of darkness, heedless of exhaustion, bringing body after body up the slopes in the constantly moving trucks.

Many of these bodies were badly mangled, according to miners who attended them when they were secured. One was found headless, and others had their faces, arms, legs and large pieces of flesh missing. The majority of these mangled forms were brought to the surface long after dark, and some of these were still unidentified in the morning.

The survivors were 41 in number, and when spoken to stated all they knew regarding the explosion. Very little was told, however, for in nearly every case they were overcome by the fumes almost directly after the loud report of the explosion resounded through the mines. The falling pieces of rock, the stuffy gases, the brave attempt to get out of the mine was practically the substance of every story.

the deer, standing before him with white face and bruised body and torn hands and throbbing heart that would have burst his bonds. There was once an ancient legend of a human creature, menaced by all the furies, pitilessly pursued by every malevolent spirit of earth and air; like him this poor young girl, innocent, lovely, erstwhile happy, died before the storm.

Then the heavens burst, and the fountains of the great deep were broken open and with absolute literalness the floods descended. The burning clouds, torn asunder by the wild winds driven by the pent-up lightning within their black and turgid bosoms, disburdened themselves. The water came down, as it did of old when God washed the face of the world, in a flood. The narrow of the canon was filled ten, twenty, thirty feet to a moment by the dense rain. The black water rolled and foamed, surging like the rapids at Niagara.

The body of the girl, utterly unprepared, was caught up in a moment and flung like a bolt from a catapult down the seething sea filled with the trunks of the trees and the debris of the mountains, tossing about hither and yon in the wild confusion. She struck out strongly swimming more because of the instinct of life than for any other reason. A helpless atom in the boiling flood, growing every minute greater and greater as the angry skies disgorged themselves, the pent-up torrents upon her devoted head.

CHAPTER VI.

Death, Life and the Resurrection.

The man was coming back from one of his rare visits to the settlements. Ahead of him he drove a train of burros who, well broken to their work, followed with docility the wise old leader in the advance. The burros were laden with his supplies for the approaching winter. The season was late, the mountains would soon be impassable on account of the snows, indeed he chose the late season always for his buying in order that he might not be followed, and it was his habit to buy in different places at different years that his repeated and expected presence at one spot might not arouse suspicion.

Interference with his fellow men was confined to this yearly visit to a settlement, and even that was of the briefest nature, confined always to the business in hand. Even when he was in the town he pitched a small tent in the open on the outskirts and dwelt apart. No man would have dreamed of trying to enter the business of other men.

It was against nature that a man dowered as he should so live to himself alone. Some voice should cry in his soul in the corements of futile remorse, vain expiations and humbling recollection; some day he should burst these grave clothes self-wound about him and be once more a man and a master among men, rather than the hermit and the recluse of the solitudes.

He did not allow these thoughts to come into his life; indeed, it is quite likely that he scarcely realized them at all yet; such possibilities did not present themselves to him. Perhaps the man was a little mad that morning, maybe he trembled on the verge of a break-up, downward, I do not know so it be, unconscious of the way he strode along the range that morning.

He had been walking for some hours and he had been thinking of the way he had descended to the level of the brook which he heard below him and of which he sometimes caught a flashing glimpse through the trees. He scrambled down the rocks and found himself in a thick grove of pine. Making his way slowly and with great difficulty through the tangle of fallen timber which lay in every direction, the sound of a human voice, low but not far off, he heard him in that wilderness, came upon the fearful hollow of his ear.

Any voice or any word then and there would have surprised him, but there was a note of awful terror in this voice, a sound of frightened appeal. The desperation in the cry left him no moment for thought, the deed was for action. The cry was not addressed to him, apparently, but to God, yet it was he who answered—so doubtless by that Overlooking Power who works in such mysterious ways His wonder to perform!

He leaped over the intervening trees to the edge of the forest where the rapid waters ran. To the right of him rose a huge rock, or cliff, in front of him the canon bent sharply to the north, and beneath him a few rods away a speck of white gleamed (Continued next week) of great cities of the plains. He could be master among men as he was a master among mountains, if he chose. On such occasions he laughed cynically, scornfully, yet rarely, did he ever drive away to such emotions.

A great and terrible sorrow was upon him; cherishing a great passion he had withdrawn himself from the confines of the world of men. From a perverted sense of exaltation, in a madness of grief, horror and despair, he had made himself a prisoner to the mountains, the desert of the mountains. Back to his cabin he would hasten and there surrounded by his living memories—fatherless, yet of the death—his would recreate the past until death drove him abroad on the will to meet God if not man—or woman. Night and day, sunshine-shadow, heat-cold, storm-calm; these were his life.

Having disburdened his faithful animals of their packs and having seen them safely bestowed for the winter in the corral, he had built near the base of the cliff upon which his rude home was situated, he took his rifle and morning for one of those lonely walks across the mountains from which he drew such comfort because he fancied the absence of man concealed the best rule yet formulated for the early lumbermen who were always careful to allow a liberal, though arbitrary, percentage for waste in sawing. Originally inaccurate, they are becoming increasingly so with the introduction of band-saws and more modern milling methods, and attempts, as yet unsuccessful, have been made to substitute these old rules by a standard rule having mathematical accuracy. Probably the best rule yet formulated is the International Log Rule prepared by Dr. J. F. Clark when Chief Forester for Ontario, which he verified by extensive tests at the mill.

It is interesting to compare the International Rule with those in most common use in Canada. A sixteen-foot log twelve inches in diameter contains, according to the International rule, 105 feet of board measure; according to the Scribner Rule, used in the prairie provinces, 75 feet, board measure, and according to the Doyle Rule, the most common use in Eastern Canada, only 64 feet, board measure, of lumber. The disparity is even greater in smaller logs, and it is small logs which make up the greater part of the cut in Canada today. Thus, so far as stumpage dues are concerned, it is safe to say that only one-fifth of the lumbermen pay for only half the merchantable lumber the average log really contains. It is significant that when the British Columbia government recently decided to increase the royalty paid on timber cut in the interior of the province, it accomplished that purpose merely by stipulating that the British Columbia Log Rule should henceforth be used in that region instead of the Doyle Rule, thus increasing by 45 per cent. the amount of estimated lumber in the logs cut.

It is possible that in other parts of Canada the bonus paid by the lumbermen in addition to stumpage dues makes up for this in some way. But, other things being equal, a lumberman operating under a lenient rule having by stipulation that the British Columbia Log Rule should henceforth be used in that region instead of the Doyle Rule, thus increasing by 45 per cent. the amount of estimated lumber in the logs cut.

Bandits Who Murdered Exshaw Cashier Are Sentenced to Death

"We find the three prisoners, Afancy Sokoloff, Joe Smith and Max Mandlik, guilty of murder, with a recommendation of mercy in the case of the prisoner Max Mandlik." SCALING INFLUENCES STUMPAGE Amount Paid Depends on Log-Rule Used

There are over forty different log-rules now in use in the United States and Canada, showing a variation of over 50 per cent. in the amount of lumber they ascribe to a log of any given size. This great disparity is due to the fact that the majority of these log-rules are rules of thumb evolved from the rough diagrams or experience of the early lumbermen who were always careful to allow a liberal, though arbitrary, percentage for waste in sawing. Originally inaccurate, they are becoming increasingly so with the introduction of band-saws and more modern milling methods, and attempts, as yet unsuccessful, have been made to substitute these old rules by a standard rule having mathematical accuracy. A Six Months' Hoist

During April and May a great many poor cows have been milked, giving, in some cases, only 600 pounds of milk and 17 pounds of fat in the month; some have contented themselves with producing even less than this.

One wonders if the owners of such cows are contented with records like that, and if the owners of the various factories concerned are content to let their plants be run with such poor support.

It is a common occurrence to find groups of 50 and 100 cows at a factory giving on the average 300 pounds of milk more than similar groups supplying the same factory.

Supposing a factory is supported by only 200 cows, it should be comparatively easy to have an extra three thousand six hundred dollars flowing through it in six months to the patrons if they had better cows. That is a good "six months' hoist."

The factory management is therefore directly interested in recommending cow testing to the patrons and in providing for its operation.

Some of the good records received at the dairy division, Ottawa (where full information may be obtained about cow testing), for April and May, are: 90 cows at Ayer's Cliff, Ont., with an average of 25 pounds of fat; 85 cows at Atwood, Ont., with 30 pounds of fat; 53 at Wallace, Ont., giving 1,005 pounds of milk and 32 pounds of fat. Three grade cows at Cornwall, Ont., averaged 40 pounds of fat, and a five year old grade at Peterboro, Ont., gave 1,600 pounds of milk and 92 pounds of fat. This cow gave more than four times as much fat as many poor cows in the month.

Want Idle Men To Farm

Ottawa, June 18.—"If we could only induce those out of work to go into the country away from the city and to have free dinner tables provided for them, it would be a great thing for the country. I could place 10,000 men on farms in Ontario alone."

Such is the opinion expressed by Hon. T. W. Crothers, minister of labor, in connection with the unemployed, which is common in the cities of Canada today.

"The trouble is," said the minister, "that so many of these men refuse absolutely to go on the farm. Everywhere there is an outcry for farm help. As a people we are losing money because we cannot get the land tilled as it should be. Whatever militates against the farmer militates against Canada as a whole."

Red Deer Win Again

The Victims Were Lacombe

Red Deer won their fourth straight game on Friday last, when they defeated the Lacombe team 6-1 in a close game. Better games have been seen here, as the playing was not of the professional variety, but it was a good close game, and gave lots of thrills. If the visitors had left Mr. Metzger in the box it would have been a walkaway for the locals, as they got three runs off his delivery in the first inning. But Donner was then put in, and his style of pitching is different from anything else in the league. He pitches such a slow ball that the batters cannot apparently wait for it, and he was pretty effective on Friday night. Wakelin and Hamley being the only ones to solve his curves with much success. Smith and Braton were steady as usual. Smith with the exception perhaps of Dorell, of Didsbury, is the most consistent pitcher in the league at present, and did some good work several times on Friday night when the bases had become crowded. Both teams seemed weak at the bat when hits were especially required, and so the score was kept down. Lawson was back in the game again at first. J. Brazier officiated and had one or two sharp passes with one or other of the players.

Colliery Men in Free Fight

A free fight among a number of men just in from the Brazeau Collieries took place on Saturday afternoon in the Alberta hotel. The men, among whom were a number of Danes and Russians, commenced quarrelling, and apparently one man struck another, and then the whole bunch commenced fighting; glasses were thrown and spoons and other movable articles were also made use of. The police were sent for and arrested five of the men, but some of the others got away out of town. One man drew a 20-inch steel bar, weighing about ten lbs. from under his coat, and was in the act of striking when Fred Lund, who was looking on, grabbed the man's arm and prevented the blow. Had he struck, the blow would probably have killed the other man. The men who arrested all four sides of the faces, having black eyes and bleeding faces. They were brought up on Monday morning before Justice Wallace and fined $10 each, and had an interpreter there on their behalf. Each man denied fighting, and claimed that some other fellow had struck him, and that he was only trying to get away when he was arrested. One man claimed he was only holding the spittoon to stop someone else throwing it. Justice Wallace said it was a most singular thing that the police should arrest five innocent men out of the bunch, and in regard to the man who used the bar of steel, he was satisfied on the evidence that he had as much to do with the fight as anybody. He fined him $15 and costs; three of the other men were fined $5 and costs each, and one the costs only. The men were also told by the magistrates to get out of town, and the police instructed to arrest any of them seen frequenting the bars.

RED DEER RESIDENT READS FORTUNE FROM HIS INVENTION

Mauree Howard, a young Englishman, a member of the Red Deer Fire Brigade, left Red Deer on the evening train last night for San Francisco, at the request of the Bell Telephone Company. Mr. Howard was working for this company last year in different parts of the States, and invented an improvement on the Telephone Relay, which he patented in America, and submitted it to the Bell Telephone Company for a six months' trial. The test has proved the success of the patent, and the Company have agreed to pay Mr. Howard a good round sum for his patent, and a royalty on every instrument built. Mr. Howard's patent enables a smaller wire to be used and increases the efficiency of the telephone to a marked degree.

Red Deer Post Office

Contractors outside of Red Deer will probably be hearing of the new post office. Any local sub-contractors who may wish to give to outside firms a figure can leave a number of sealed tenders, addressed to C. A. Julia, Charman, Barrer and Gibb, architect, and he will be pleased to forward these sub-tenders to contractors who may be putting in a bulk contract.

A Wheel Trip to Horn Hill

Half a dozen of our popular young men elected to go out to Horn Hill on their wheels on the occasion of the picnic at that place on Thursday last. That was alright, and easily enough done as a rule, but fortune did not seem to smile upon them in this case. The road was dry enough, though a little rough in spots, on the way out, but there was a strong head wind, as often happens, and one or two of the boys were decided by all in when they reached Horn Hill. After they had been there about an hour, it gained some, and they beat it for a handy barn. After a while it rained some more, and they began to fear the roads might be damped, but would they leave their homes while anything was doing? Oh, no. Soon it rained a little more, and they began to think they might as well start for home, as everything else seemed to be going. But the sun tried to come out, and they stayed a time longer, until finally it began to rain again and they started home. They found the road decidedly wet, in fact so wet that the instant the wheels touched it they stopped of their own accord in the mud. It was for it but to ride in the grass at the side of the road and get off and carry the wheel when the mud was not to be avoided or the water became deeper than two feet, and it was raining. Also after a few miles had been traversed the portals of night began to close down, and it was a cheerful bunch that trailed duck fashion along through the water and mud, with their wheels skidding back and forth and now and again refusing to go at all, when the mud became so sticky. By and by, when about six miles had been covered, the wheels were abandoned and left at a friendly farm house, and the party did the remainder of the journey on foot. It was quite dark, and the fireflies glimmered pleasantly in the wet grass, and they secured a few to light them on their way. They presently met a garrulous tiller of the soil, who had been in town and seemed quite happy over it. He informed them of the wonderful new oil strike, and they went on their way rejoicing, arriving in town about 12 o'clock, in a shocking condition, but quite cheerful.
